Reflection

Reflect upon your responses to each of the Missing Piece objectives.

As a school staff we are continuing to build the relationships with the parents and develop further community/business partnership to help meet the needs of all of our students.

Communication has improved, but we are continuing to look for ways to communicate with all stakeholders, especially in their home languages. Remind 101, Twitter, etc.

As a school staff we continue to look for ways to incorporate the parents into the decision making process beyond the decisions made in the Site Based Council meetings. Parent input is valued, but sometimes hard to acquire the information from all stakeholders.

The advocacy for our students does not always come from a parent. The faculty and staff many times are the strongest advocates for the students. They continue to look for instructional interventions, mental health and health needs of the students and their families.

Continued opportunities are provided to parents with ways to help their child grow educationally and emotionally. New programs need to be investigated so the parents have new learning strategies as tools for their child's education. Incorporation of the ESL families in the programs needs to continue to be addressed in their home languages.

While we have developed multiple community partnerships, we need to look for new and different partnerships as the needs of our students, parents, and community change over time. The current partnerships can also be further developed to meet the needs as they change in the future.
